EDWARD MAY ABDICATE TO-DAY

Scientists pursuing researches in various directions in the Yale Institute of Human Relations are said to have come to the conclusion that all human personalities and habits are governed by definite laws. And so they are going to try to codify the laws that govern human behavior.

To try to understand the reason for seemingly inexplicable human actions will seem to many a discouraging attempt to pry into the mysteries of intelligence, emotion and impulse. To attempt to determine definite laws which govern such actions will seem hopeless. But science has thrown light into many dark places. It is not too much to hope that it may do so in this field.

Outlining what will be attempted by the institute, Director May has said: "We usually assume that human behavior is intelligent," he said, "and if it is, then human beings behave according to unknown but specific laws. People probably know what they are doing, but not why they are doing it."

Dr. May outlined the aims and principles which the institute will follow during the next few years. "By studying the problems of individuals in real life situations," he said, "we hope to advance scientific knowledge concerning the conditions, limitations, barriers, and facilitations by which human beings attain or fail to attain happiness."

There is a practical side to all this, as well as a purely scientific one. The question that is to be answered, is: Why do so many individuals fail to find adequate satisfaction in the life situations through which they pass? Is it because they were born that way or because they have an inadequate or wrong set of habits, ideas, attitudes and beliefs or because something has gone wrong with the organic machine?

Once that answer is found, the field of remedy may be opened.

We regret to report that little progress has been made along the line of a rubberst Christmas tree. In its own element, a spruce or balsam is not rated a deciduous or shedding tree, but becomes so almost at once in a heated home. Picking up after a moulting spruce is greatly expedited by a vacuum cleaner, the sinuses and respiratory system of which are understood to be benefited by inhaling the soothing aromas given off by an evergreen.

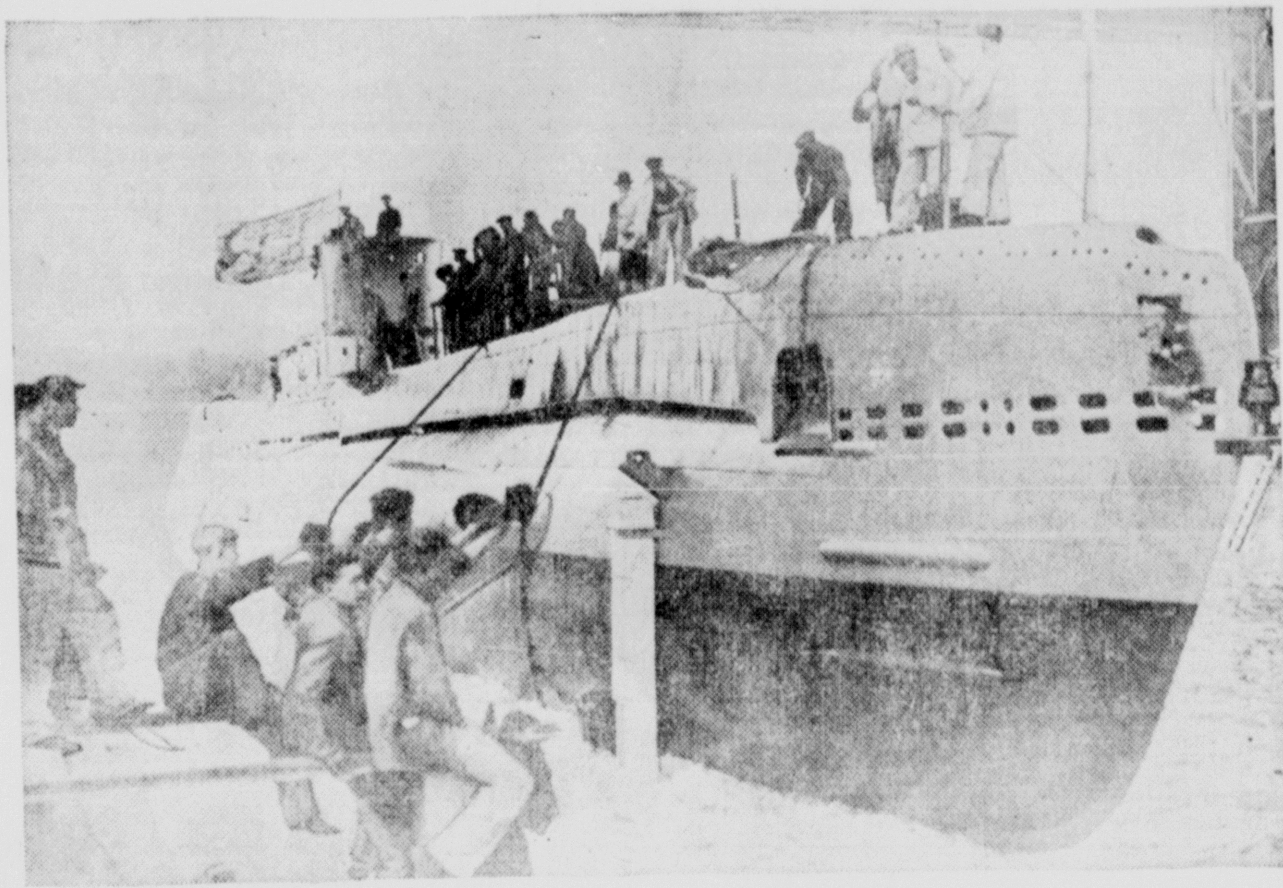

To decorate a Christmas tree without dissension, in the average large household, it is best to ship all members of the family but one to another state. The rule is to buy a tree 18 inches too high for the room and to spend an evening trying to decide whether to saw a piece from the butt, thus sacrificing the luxuriant lower boughs, or to lop a couple of feet from the top and make it look like the devil. One must make this decision for himself. In any event he will regret it.

The only safe way to decorate a tree standing nine feet is to hire one of the taller circus freaks, who are usually idle at this season, to attach the stars, colored balls, tinsel, icicles and what not to its upper reaches. Great care must be taken to provide a firm support for a tree, as nothing is as unprofitable as a quarrel with a falling balsam, laden with fragile bric-a-brac. In dealing with the problem of the dead bulb in the all-or-none type of tree lighting circuit, it is best to ignore it entirely and hang another line.

If these directions are faithfully followed, much of the quality of an ordeal may be eliminated from a fine old annual ceremony.

Choirs are practicing the Christmas carols which will ring through the churches on that holy day. The first sounds Christmas morning in many neighborhoods are the sweet voices in the starlight, telling us that Christ

Another Big British Submarine Is Launched

His Majesty's latest submarine, "The Sunfish" shown sliding into the water after being christened at the shipyards at Chatham, in Kent. Britannia still intends to rule the waves, for an expanded shipbuilding program is part of the government's rearmament plan involving the expenditure of $1,000,000,000 in the next year.

PICTURE PROGRAM FOR CHEST FUND SATURDAY

"The Voice of Bugle Ann" featuring Lionel Barrymore, and one of the great stories of modern literature, will be shown at the Cameron Theater at 9:30 a. m. Saturday December 12th.

The admission charge will be a can of foodstuff. The food will be given to the Community Chest for distribution to the poor this winter.

Manager Swift of the theatre is lending his show house to aid the Community Chest. A special emphasis is placed on attendance by children, although adults are invited. Bring along a can of food and you will be admitted. The show is being labeled a child's matinee.

Band Chosen For Testing of Music

The Yoe High School Band has been selected as one of five bands to demonstrate the state band contest numbers at the annual state bandmasters convention and clinic to be held in Waco February 5th and 6th, 1937. These clinic bands will play for the assembled bandmasters all the numbers to be played at the coming contests, and each band will be under the direction and supervision of William Revelli, world-famed bandmaster of the University of Michigan. Mr. Revelli will take each band in turn on its numbers, showing the bandmasters his ideas concerning the interpretation, etc., of the particular selection, so that the directors will have some very advanced ideas to work on, in the future.

The numbers that the Cameron band will play for Mr. Revelli are: Overture-Panora, Selection from Tannhauser, Beethoven's Andante Cantabile, and the selection "Message of the Chimes." These numbers are from the state contest list for Class D and E bands.

Bands Are Listed
The other bands participating in this clinic are the Baylor University Band, which will play the Class A contest numbers; the Waco High School Band, which will play Class B contest numbers; the Waxahachie High School Band, which will play the Class C numbers; The West Junior High Band of Waco which will play certain numbers not yet announced, and the Yoe High Band with the Class D and E numbers.

Work on these numbers has already begun, as a very high class performance will be necessary to satisfy the desires of Mr. Revelli.

At the close of the convention and clinic, the five bands will form a street parade on the streets of Waco.

FREE OPERETTA AT SCHOOL DECEMBER 21

Sponsored by the schools an Operetta "The Lost Doll" will be given in the new auditorium of the physical education building at 7:30 Monday night December 21st.

More than 200 children will take part in the program, the operetta to be a floor show and the final scenes from the stage.

Miss Porter and Miss Clement are in charge of the program. There will be no admission charge whatever and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Hundreds of dolls of all kinds will be seen in the show. The school plans to give a series of entertainments to encourage patrons to take a greater interest in the schools.

REPORT MADE ON ANTI-RAT DRIVE

Although no figures are available on the number of rats killed, indications are that the campaign here has been successful.

Secretary Paden of the Chamber of Commerce reports on the details of the campaign conducted by J. M. Hill, biological department A & M College.

Poison bait was given to 212 for use in Cameron and 296 outside the city. In all 878 traps were placed and 462 lbs. of bait furnished. The total cost was $59.90 and was directed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parma attended the funeral of Mrs. Parma's uncle, C. G. Sullivan at Navasota last Thursday afternoon.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

MADE POSTMASTER
John P. O'Neil has been named acting postmaster at Burlington to succeed the late Dr. Herring. Mr. O'Neil has already qualified for the place.

DOSSETT RETURN
Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dossett have returned by plane from Los Angeles where they visited his brother for several days. They arrived in Cameron late Wednesday.

OVERFLOW THREATENS
Little River was due to get back in banks late Wednesday after a threat to overflow bottom lands Tuesday due to heavy central Texas rains over its watershed.

RUTH MODE, 17 IS BURIED WEDNESDAY

Ruth Mode, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mode, died in Kings Daughters Hospital in Temple, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

Miss Mode had been critically ill for 9 weeks with kidney infection. Blood transfusions were resorted to in an effort to save her life. Her condition became worse late Monday, the end coming after an anxious night of vigil by loved ones at the hospital.

Funeral services were held late Wednesday from the Presbyterian church with Rev. O. C. Acree, pastor, conducting the ceremony. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Miss Mode graduated from Ada Henderson school in the class of 1933 and was a member of the Senior Class in Yoe High School this year, to graduate next June. She was popular on the campus and loved by the entire student body.

All through the night Tuesday and on Wednesday hundreds gathered at her home to express sorrow and to comfort the family and close friends.

Bradbury Continues Clearance Sale Here

C. W. Bradbury's Clearance sale met with unusual success here last week and for the convenience of those who were unable to take advantage of the sale last week and the first part of this week, Mr. Bradbury has announced his intentions of continuing his sale prices through Saturday of this week.

Mr. Bradbury offered this sale on fall merchandise in order to clear his stock and make room for the large volume of Christmas goods, which he plans to display beginning Monday of next week.

YOEMEN IN REGIONAL BATTLE FRIDAY NIGHT

For the first time in history a Yoemen team will be battling for regional honors in football when they play the Odd Fellows Team here Friday night.

By reason of the defeat on last Friday night of the Mart team in that city the Yoemen went into final competition. A regional victory will give the Yoemen the highest ranking possible in Class B football as no state championships are arranged for the entire state in this brand of school competition.

The game has been called at 7:30 p. m. it was said, although no direct newspaper announcement were made to The Herald. Circulars have been distributed.

The Yoemen record this year is unique in local history. They won the district in 1934 and lost the Bi-District to Smithville. Again in 1936 they won the District and also the Bi-District against Mart.

FOOTBALL BANQUET PLANNED DEC. 18TH

Although no direct announcement has been made to The Herald, it is understood plans are afoot for a football banquet to be held Friday night December 18th to honor the 1936 Yoemen.

Coaches and Captains from all squads in the District are to be invited. Only 200 tickets are to be sold to the banquet.

Clyde Littlefield, former head football coach at Texas University will be invited to make the principal address, it was understood.

The banquet is an annual event in football circles at Yoe High school. As soon as details are complete The Herald hopes to be able to present them.

Recruiting Officer Here Thursday

United States Army Recruiting officers will be in Cameron today to enlist men in the regular army to be stationed at Fort Sam Houston.

The recruiting officers were in Cameron last Thursday for the convenience of the young men of this community who are interested in enlisting in the army.

KNIGHTS COLUMBUS MEET WEDNESDAY

The regular meeting of Cameron council was held last Wednesday. At this meeting, much to the regret of the council, Louis J. Matula turned in his resignation as Treasurer. Mr. Matula is a very energetic young man, but due to outside work he said he did not have the time to devote to the office as treasurer. The council will elect a new treasurer at the next meeting.

At the next meeting our Lecturer with the aid of several knights will offer as entertainment a Christmas tree. So we are all looking forward to this occasion and probably old Santa Claus will be there.

Due to bad weather, Grand Knight Aug. G. Kunz has extended our time limit for another thirty days to try to get new candidates.

BRITISH KING MAKES REPLY TO BALDWIN

A London news flash early today indicated the British King would abdicate to marry Mrs. Wallie Simpson now in France.

Stanley Baldwin, before the House of Commons said he would make no statement to-day. It was known however, that the British Premier had obtained the final answer of the King. His failure to make a statement was generally regarded as indicating that the King would go ahead with his plans to marry Mrs. Simpson, even though abdication appeared the best way out.

YOEMEN BEAT MART TO WIN BI-DISTRICT

Captain Joe McLean in as dazzling a display of backfield play as Texas has seen this year in Class B football led his maroon companions to a close though sensational victory over the Mart Panthers Friday night for the Bi-District crown.

The score was 15 to 13 but does not indicate the game. Cameron outplayed the Mart team and but for a few bad breaks and poor play at the moment would have scored at least three more touchdowns.

In the last moment of play Captain McLean, playing his last year, shook loose on the 50 yard line, left the entire Mart team in midfield and ran a race with Captain Sandig the star for Mart. The fleet maroon captain scored a touchdown which was called back.

Mart scored early in the first quarter from 8 yard line where on the previous play Sandig had carried an intercepted pass. He went under his own right end for the score. Late in the fourth quarter Mart scored on a long pass to Sandig who caught the Yoemen team unprepared for the brilliant shot.

The most sensational play of the game was a 75 yard run by McLean in the second quarter. He returned Mr. Sandig's punt for a touchdown. Later in the same quarter he scored again from the Panther 25 yard line in a match of speed with Sandig. It was decidedly a McLean victory over the touted Mart back.

Jimmie Stewart playing at right end was a star. Peck in the backfield and Underwood his mate were outstanding. In the line Gerick and Poole came through along with Heath in a brilliant performance. Luie Turner called the game at quarter, his plays resulting in the touchdowns.

Third Girl Baby Is Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lewis Here

A belated news report to The Herald chronicles another blessed event in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lewis. Born to them on November 28th is Little Miss Lynn Lewis, a daughter, who now rules the home, one of three girls born to the parents. The fourth child is a boy, Jack, Jr. The new arrival weighed 8 lbs. and along with her mother, the former Miss Minnie Nell Blaylock, is doing nicely.

The father was former Criminal District Attorney, and now practicing law. Congratulations are coming in from many friends.

Human Heads Are Barred From Mail

Rangoon, Burma.—A baffled but irate postmaster has asked the homicidal natives of North Burma to "please discontinue the practice" of sending human heads through the mail.

"I admit," he wrote to one such sender, "that there is no specific reference to this in the regulations. I am aware, of course, that Bil Khwal was killed in action, and that some trophy belonging to his enemy might properly be sent to his relatives. Nevertheless, the dispatch by registered parcel post of human heads is open to grave objection, and I must insist that the practice be discontinued at once."

G-MEN LAUGH OVER FUNNY EXPERIENCES

"Karpis Baggers" Now One of Favorite Nicknames.

Washington.—Justice department agents, portrayed in movies and fiction as stern and ruthless man-hunters, are not devoid of a sense of humor.

Some of the things they chuckle over are printed in a publication whose circulation is strictly confined to the federal bureau of investigation. In it are published the jokes of men who shelled out of existence the Karpis - Barker, John Dillinger, the Barrow, Floyd-Miller, and Kelly-Bates gangs.

A Birmingham agent, unusually successful at capturing bank robbers, associated his successes with a certain blue suit. When a bank was robbed recently he hurried home to put on his "bank robber suit," but it took so long the bandits were caught before his return.

Federal agents objected strenuously at first to the sobriquet of "G-Men," but now they take most all nicknames lightly. Their current favorite is "Karpis Baggers," though they sometimes call themselves "Hoovermen" or "G-Boys."

The bureau's correspondence usually offers a mine of material. One agent dictated:

"Miss C— provided the above information to the writer in strict confidence and apparently is somewhat in love with him."

If War Office Is Right

He Is Kidding Himself

New York.—The United States government insists that William B. Clayton died in the World war. Mr. Clayton, however, insists that the report is grossly exaggerated.

Mr. Clayton, and particularly his wife, has decided that it is no longer amusing. For the fourth time, Mrs. Clayton has just received word of the death of her husband. Mr. Clayton is a member of the staff of the Nassau county clerk's office, at Mineola.

He served in the World war and in 1918 when he was in France the war risk insurance division of the War department advised Mrs. Clayton that her husband had been killed in action.

She hardly had learned that the report was false when she received notification that Mr. Clayton had been reported missing from a front-line trench. She again learned the report was false. Then the department wrote her that her husband had been taken to a field hospital for treatment.

The whole matter was dropped after Mr. Clayton's return from France and the incidents almost forgotten when a letter from the war risk insurance division arrived.

It announced in sorrowful language that Mr. Clayton had been killed in action in France. Mr. Clayton said he believed some mix-up in the records had brought about the notifications, but that he is going to write the division in an effort to "make myself alive."

Blocks Gun Muzzle With His Body to Die a Hero

San Sebastian, Spain.—The story of an insurgent captain who covered the muzzle of a radical machine gun with his body and died for his cause was related by insurgent troops.

The captain, Don Fernando Nieva, led an attempt of Carlists (followers of Don Carlos) to capture a machine gun on a hill on the Navarre front. Within fifty meters of the gun, he told his followers to remain hidden until they heard him cry "Espana!" (Spain).

Nieva sprinted for the gun and threw his body across the muzzle. His men rushed the nest and killed the crew.

As his bullet-riddled body was removed from the gun, the dying leader gasped: "Espana!"

6-Foot Python Retreats Before Two Small Chicks

Singapore.—The python, a snake feared by man and beast alike, is afraid of chickens, L. A. D. Jermyn, a Londoner living in Malaya, declares. "One night," he said, "I put two small chickens, only about six inches high, alive into the cage of a six foot python. You might think that cruel to the chickens—but the next morning the python was thrashing around the cage in fright, with the chickens pecking at its tail."

WHAT YOUR ABSENCE DID

1. It made some question the reality of religion. 2. It made some think you were a pretender. 3. It made many think that you regarded your spiritual welfare as a matter of small concern. 4. It weakened the efforts of the church service. 5. It made it harder for the minister to preach. 6. It discouraged the brethren, and, therefore robbed them of a blessing. 7. It caused others to follow the example you set. 8. It made it harder for you to meet the temptations of the week. 9. It gave the devil more power over lost souls.

10. It caused you to lose that "peace of God that passeth all understanding."—Selected.

Editorial

'Tis now the very middle of the high school year when sophomores yawn and teachers themselves breathe out deep lectures to the students.

The sophomores sigh, "Oh, that this too, too, solid flesh would melt, thaw and resolve itself into a dew" or that I were even a junior." Fie, fie, 'tis a hard school. Teachers assign lessons and grade the papers.

The sophomores say, "Here we are sophomores, and sophomores get about as much recognition as the prop boys in a screen play. The prop boys hold up the tables, microphone, and other studio equipment for the screen stars, and the screen stars get all of the glory. We help to prop up old Yoe High School while we watch the juniors, seniors, and even the freshmen get all of the glory."

But "be ye not weary in well-doing," sophomores, and "faint not by the way." Put your shoulder to the wheel for another six months and watch the results—for you will be glorified juniors.

Frances Overton visited her grandmother, near Holland from Wednesday to Saturday.

Portia Kruse was guest of her grandmother and aunts in Austin on Saturday and Sunday.

Following the Team Around

Follow the team ETAOIN

As the football season nears its end, a new group of athletes is budding in Yoe High. They are the basketball team.

With two weeks' practice already behind them, the boys are really getting down to work. With the courts marked off and new baskets and back-stops fitted into the new gymnasium, the boys are able to spend their time on goal-shooting, dribbling, and all kinds of floor work.

They have their work-out at the 7th period and one hour after school.
The prospects are that several games will be played before Christmas. With hard practice sessions, the boys may develop into a good club.

Outstanding in practice are Birkelbach, Kennedy, J. Walzel, Blankenship, Baldwin, Griswold, Groppell, Lansford and Atkinson. Other members of the squad are Garvin, Erick, Lott, Cotton, Krall, Kubecka, Goodwin, Gann, Barrett, Griffin, Alexander, V. Walzel, J. Heath, Caldwell and Clark.

Assembly Program

The Episcopal Church had charge of the assembly program Wednesday.
Reverend J. P. Love, pastor of the church, spoke briefly.

Only 8 per cent of the girls in Yoe
High School are normal in weight, according to recent measurements in the girls physical education classes.

Of the 210 measured, 71 per cent were underweight, and 21 per cent were overweight.

Honor Roll

The seniors and juniors again are tied for first place with 20 students each, on the 2nd six weeks' honor roll at Yoe High. Oddly enough, the sophomores and freshman are tied for second place with 13 each. A

Sophomore themes dealt in general with fire-resisting materials. The senior classes wrote on fire costs.
Each year Fire Prevention themes are written by the sophomore and senior classes. The winning themes are sent to the State Department in Austin to be kept there.

Spanish Class

During the past two weeks the Spanish Club has studied the principal cities of Spain. On November 24, Madrid was featured in talks by Ray Hubert Brashear, Ben Walker, and Mary Frances White, with My-

FORD

advances into 1937 with the LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS
and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines. 85 horsepower for maximum performance. 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success.
Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase—to the same advanced design—with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes—but only one car and one purpose—to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

FORD FEATURES FOR 1937

APPEARANCE—Distinctive design.
Headlamps in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood. Larger luggage space. New interiors. Slanting V-type windshield.

BRAKES—Easy-Action Safety Brakes with "the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Cable and conduit control. About one-third less brake pedal pressure required.

BODY—All steel. Top, sides, floor and frame welded into a single steel unit.
Safety Glass throughout at no extra charge.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Center-Pole comfort increased by smoother spring-action with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make a quieter car.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Christmas, Merry Christmas, what magic lies in your name—what joy and happiness are associated with your coming! Every corner of the earth thrills to the sound of your voice—every heart is made glad by the message you bring! City and town await your coming with the same eagerness and happy anticipation; rich and poor give you the same hearty welcome. The old and the young, the great and the humble, know that you will not fail them. Through changing years and times always you have brought the same glad joy—the same welcome message of love and peace and good will. The happiness that you bring lights up every face; under your influence every home radiates good cheer and the Christmas candles shine as a symbol of love and joy within. With some kind of magic you transform us all into men and women we would wish to be; with a power that no other day possesses, you prompt us to deeds of love and service and giving. Cares are forgotten in the joy you bring; sunshine fills every heart as the spirit of love and friendship spreads itself abroad. And with one voice the whole world bids you welcome and all bless you for the joy you bring.—Katherine Edelman.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. O. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Christmas in Shanghai

When Christmas comes to Shanghai, a cross-section of the world makes holiday. The average Chinaman fails to get the meaning of it, but such a fun-loving people can do well with one more celebration. So the Chinaman himself adds to the din with firecrackers and gift-giving, parties and the making of calls.

There is a distinct western touch to the observance of the season by this most cosmopolitan city. Shanghai's "social registerites" start plans for dinners and dances as early as the middle of November; immediately reservations are checked off on the calendars of ballrooms and restaurants. The exact form of observance varies with the nationality divisions of the city. In the Russian section, boys and girls are taught in the steppes or in Moscow. The French greet Santa Claus in their own way, even though the wax dolls have to be brought far from the Champs Elysees. The Japanese prefer to make merry by drinking sake. The English must have their plum pudding and holly.

At the mission schools, where the day is observed as it is on separate classes, Christmas carols around the tree give modest school girls a chance not only of singing hymns but of "seeing him."

In interior China, however, most of the people prefer to celebrate their own Dragon-boat, Mid-Autumn, and New Year holidays rather than this "imported" one. They do not even try to understand these queer foreigners. To them December 25 is just another day.—Frances Grinstead.

Christmas Eve Alliance

Made Two Hearts Happier

The wind howled dimly, and Oscar Huggins, looking out at the whirling snow, put up the shutters. Put them up right, too, as the little grocery would be closed tomorrow. Dimly, he wondered how to spend Christmas.

He checked over his stock, nibbled a bit of cheese, and opened the back door to throw out a rotting apple.

In the snow stood a boy. The lad dove for the apple, polishing and handling it as something precious.

"Here!" said Oscar roughly. "I thought you threw it away," he answered, "and see, it's pretty good."

"Humph," said Oscar. "All right, keep it. But, mind, you've no business loitering here. You should be home in this weather, and on Christmas eve, of all times." The lad shifted uneasily but did not leave. "Well?" Oscar demanded.

"I was looking for work, sir."

Oscar looked at him sharply.

"Out on your own, son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where are your folks?"

His tale of breavement, struggle and loneliness was brief but impressive.

"How'd you like to spend Christmas with me?" the grocer offered. Funny, this life. A bit ago he had almost wished he wasn't closing tomorrow—now it seemed jolly.

"Gee!" exclaimed his new friend. "Swell!"

They packed a market basket to overflowing. But Oscar turned back. "Wait a minute." He selected his best candies and found a bit of red string.

The Reason for this Clearance

My store in Cameron is heavily stocked with brand new merchandise bought for fall business. I must clear it to make room for goods to supply the Christmas and holiday trade. In order to do this I have launched this great December Clearance Sale. I cannot replace these goods at the prices I paid in the early fall markets. This means that you are to share in an unusual opportunity to save on your winter needs and in addition get the benefit of new, quality merchandise. I am taking a loss to accomplish this make ready for Christmas business, but I feel I am passing along to those who have been patrons of this store for 16 years the most beneficial opportunity of the year. My policy has never been that of spontaneous or irregular sales. Every sales event I announce has back of it solid and plausible reasons. I have never advertised a sale that did not mean savings plus quality merchandise. I have no junk to throw into the vortex of a thunderous, average cheap appeal. I have high standard merchandise and nothing less. Sixteen years in Cameron selling Quality Merchandise is your guarantee of benefits in this Clearance.

Sincerely,

C. W. BRADBURY.

DELPHIANS

Mrs. J. Coy Williams was hostess at a meeting of the Delphian Chapter on Tuesday afternoon with 14 members answering to the roll call with criticism of incorrectly pronounced words.

An interesting program was given with Miss Winnie Henderson reviewing "The Street Keeper," by Norma Patterson. The biography of Norma Patterson was given by Mrs. Frank Lesovsky. A social hour followed when guests were invited into the dining room where the hostess seated them at a beautifully appointed lace-laid table. Poured tea and assorted canopies were served.

BRIDGE

Mrs. Dero Jenkins courtesy to friends the past week took the form of a series of bridge when she entertained on Wednesday and Friday afternoon, using a color scheme of pink. The reception suit was adorned with yellow chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Refreshments served from trays centered with bowls of yellow chrysanthemums, carried out the chosen colors in all appointments for the salad course served with coffee.

High score awards, beautiful hand done linen handkerchiefs, fell to Mrs. Penn Wolf and Albert Collins.

Out of town guests were Mrs. C. R. Isaacs of Rockdale and Mrs. Bob Barnett of Baytown.

For the series of games on Friday afternoon high and second high scores were made by Mrs. R. W. Bennett and Mrs. Pope Sapp respectively. Each received lovely handkerchiefs.

The hostess was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Penn Wolf in serving a refreshment plate with coffee.

D. A. R. APPROVED SCHOOLS

An approved school is one which has been recommended and endorsed by the State Conference of the State in which the school is located; which has been presented to the National Committee on Approved Schools for consideration; which has been recommended by the National Board of Management and has been approved by the Continental Congress in Washington.

There are seventeen schools on the approved list to which assistance is given in the way of money for scholarships, student loans and buildings, and boxes containing clothing, household and school supplies, books, magazines, games, etc.

Eleven of these schools are located in the mountains of the South. Boys and girls whose ancestry is the same as that of D. A. R. members, but have been denied the privileges of the children outside the mountains, have an opportunity for an education at these schools. These young people are eager to learn and are grateful to us for our assistance. In addition to literary work they receive practical vocational training which enables them to improve conditions in their homes as well as giving them knowledge of useful trades.

Three of these colleges are in the North and teach foreign born students or those of foreign parentage. This training is valuable for these young people should know the history and the ideals of their adopted country in order to be good citizens.

One school, American Indian Institute, is aiding our Indians, who in the past have had so few privileges that we should do all we can for them now.

One school, The Hillside, furnishes a home and education to about seventy-five half-orphaned boys whose parent cannot afford to give them a home. The boys do all the work at the school and on the farm, leading healthy, happy lives.

Two of these schools, Kate Duncan Smith of Grant, Ala., and Tammassee, at Tammassee, S. C. depend entirely upon the D. A. R. for maintenance. The special project of the Daughters this year is the raising of $5,000 for Recreation Hall at Kate Duncan Smith to be named in honor of our President General, Florence H. Becker.

The young people in these seventeen schools are the citizens of tomorrow and to what better use could we put our money than making it possible for them to receive the proper training. Upon their shoulders rests the future of our country.

To these schools the D. A. R. of the different States have given during the past year the sum of $45,806.34.

COURTESY TO FRIENDS

The courtesy to friends extended by Mrs. J. L. Caloway and Mrs. R. B. Stedman at the home of Mrs. Jim Neimast, mother of the former, on Saturday afternoon was an outstanding event of the past weeks calendar. With distinctive decorations throughout the reception suite, the mantel presenting a Dresden effect, was centered with roses in shades of shell pink and white in a pottery bowl. On either side were candles in antique holders. Containers of chrysanthemums in bronze shades were placed about the reception room. The dining room carried the color scheme of orchid and rose. Chrysanthemums giving the floral decoration in the chosen shades.

Contract bridge was the diversion of the hours with seven tables of players gathered for the ever popular game.

Mrs. J. M. Bowman and Mrs. Ed. Taylor were presented attractive gifts for holding high and second high scores respectively. The hostesses served a salad course with hot tea.

Out of town guests were Mesdames Charles F. Swift and Everett Maxey of Maine and Conneticut, Isaacs and Peck Collins of Rockdale.

TUESDAY BRIDGE

Mrs. Emory B. Camp was a gracious hostess at a meeting of the Tuesday bridge club for the week, using as floral decorations, roses in gorgeous fall shades with vases of red salvia placed about the reception suite where three tables of players gathered for the popular game of contract.

Concluding the series of games, Mrs. Thomas L. Denson was presented a pair of hand embroidered linen guest towels and Mrs. Julian Baskin a double deck of cards for high and next high score respectively.

The hostess served a salad plate with coffee. Mrs. Wm. Howard Baskin was guest of the club for the evening.

MRS. JAMES HOSTESS

Mrs. Jessie James opened her home to guests on Friday afternoon for a series of contract bridge. The floral decoration throughout the reception suite was an array of chrysanthemums in autumn shades, while the dining room presented a true outdoor autumn scene with boughs of autumn leaves and bronze chrysanthemums and red tapers adding a cheerful glow to the pleasant setting.

Mrs. Lester Williams and Mrs. Bill Baskin were fortunate in winning high scores for the afternoon and were presented attractive trophy awards.

A lovely refreshment course was served with individual corsages of snow ball chrysanthemums marking each plate. Prizes were won by Mesdames J. L. Calloway, Harold Payne, Alvin Mondrik and Charles Alday. The personnel consisted of Mesdames E. C. Cole, Dero Jenkins, Earle Burke, E. Parnell, Charles Alday, Pope Sapp, J. L. Calloway, Harold Payne, Gaston Barmore, Bill Burns, Lester Williams, Bill Baskin, Philip Reid, Chas. Davidson, Alvin Mondrik, and Miss Dulce McCall.

D. A. R.

Mrs. Pearl Clement was a gracious hostess for a meeting of the Sarah McCalla Chapter of the D. A. R. on Thursday afternoon at her home. The meeting opened with the reading of the Ritual.

Mrs. R. H. McIntosh, regent presided over the meeting with reports from officers and other business. An interesting program followed. Response to roll call was on Colonial trails and Post roads.

Mrs. John Cecil Culpepper gave a most interesting paper on Forests and their Conservation. A social hour followed with the hostess serving refreshments consisting of a salad course with decorated individual cake squares, mints and coffee.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. B. J. Robinson was a charming hostess on Monday evening for a dinner honoring her husband on his birthday anniversary.

The dinner table was laid with an imported cut work and filet cloth with center decorations of purple and orchid flowers in oblong rose containers and on either side pink tapers in orchid holders.

The table service of rose glass ware completed this color scheme for the perfectly appointed four course dinner. The cake, beautifully decorated with candles burning, was placed before the honor guest. With the traditional prediction in view, that wishes would be realized if all were extinguished at once.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Triggs, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bonds and the guest of honor and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were again host and hostess on Tuesday evening when they had as dinner guests Mes-sers W. H. Blumenthal and Murphy of New York City, Martin L. Strass and C. Cessler of Chicago, and Carl L. Mayou of Houston, who flew from New York and Chicago on business.

BOOK REVIEW

The book, "Gone with the Wind," by Marguerite Mitchell, presented in a review by Mrs. R. L. Batte on November 23, will be given again on Wednesday evening December 16 at the Methodist Church at 8 o'clock by popular request.

Mrs. Batte is a most interesting speaker and presents this book of the month in an unusually fine manner and is very gracious in consenting to give it again for those not privileged to hear her before.

This review is to be presented under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society and all are invited to attend.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

Larry Brennan, of omerville, visited here Monday with his mother and sisters.

HEALTH BOARD OF COUNTY IN MEETING

The December session of the County Health Board was held in County Court Room December third, Mrs. J. P. Love, Chairman, presiding.

Mrs. Stevens of State Department of Health was among those present, and gave several points of interest to Milam County members, since she finds Public Health work progressing most satisfactory under the efficient leadership of Miss Fulmer, P. H. N.

Newton Speaks

Dr. W. R. Newton, Public Health Officer, gave valuable suggestions as to methods of securing co-operation of County Medical Association and Medical Auxiliary, as well as of Parent Teacher and other organizations.

Following a report of the opening of Marlin Hot Wells Foundation Hospital for Crippled Children, an appropriation was made in appreciation of valuable service rendered the sixteen children from Milam County by Dr. H. E. Hipps and Marlin Hospital.

Negro Nurse

The State Department of Health is lending to Milam County the services of a Negro Public Health Nurse who is working with our Negro Schools during the current month. This work is greatly needed and is much appreciated by our Negro leaders.

A meeting of vital interest to all Texas is that of Texas Society for Crippled Children to be held in Port Arthur December 15th and 16th.

Noted Doctor

The outstanding feature of the sessions will be the presence and participation of Dr. Earl Carlson of New York Neurological Institute. Professional men and women from all parts of the state are urged to take advantage of this unusual opportunity and lay people will find much of interest in the practical suggestions that will be offered in care of spastic children.

Popcorn Presents

Apples, jelly or canned fruit, and even big cherry homemade wreaths done up "Christmasy" make practical presents; but the gayest and most welcome of the off-the-farm and on-to-the-city presents seem to be popcorn and hickory nuts. With a basket of popcorn and a bag of hickory nuts all kinds of Christmas boxes are suitable for every one from grandfather and grandmother who lived on a farm and picked up chestnuts when they were young, all the way down to the littlest boy cousin, who's inordinately fond of candy.

FIND GRAFT RULED CITY GOVERNMENT 3,500 YEARS AGO

Tablets Tell of Trial of the Mayor of Mesopotamian City of Nuzi.

Philadelphia, Pa. — Documentary evidence of corruption in municipal government 3,500 years ago has come to light with the translation of a set of cuneiform texts constituting by far the earliest known detailed court record of the trial of a racketeering public official.

On clay tablets, now in Harvard museum, there were inscribed 200 years before the time of Moses depictions of accusers and witnesses against Mayor Kushshiharbe of the Mesopotamian city of Nuzi and a gang of his henchmen, who were charged with a series of crimes ranging from bribery and misappropriation of property to kidnapping.

Found Near Oil Field.

Ten miles from the oil center of Kirkuk, in Iraq, the material was deciphered by Prof. Robert H. Pfeiffer, curator of the Harvard Semitic museum. Dr. Ephraim A. Speiser, director of the American schools of oriental research in Bagdad and graduate professor of semitics at the University of Pennsylvania, just has completed the translation of those tablets dealing with the case of "The People vs. Mayor Kushshiharbe."

The translation shows that charges of the existence of a partnership between government and crime not only were bruited about by the citizenry in 1500 B. C. but aroused enough public indignation to place an important public official on trial.

People Were Cultural.

The tablets were composed by people known as Hurrians, related to the Biblical Horites and now declared by orientalists to have formed the cultural link among Egypt, Palestine, and Asia Minor, and the link between the Aegean and Mesopotamian civilizations.

They were unearthed between 1925 and 1931 by the late Prof. Edward Chiera, first of the University of Pennsylvania and later of the University of Chicago.

Most of the charges against Mayor Kushshiharbe embraced "corruption." He is accused of using labor gangs from federal camps for his private purposes, of diverting tax collections to his use and of adorning his home in Anzughalli with a gate fashioned from wood belonging to the king.

Accepted Bribes.

Emboldened apparently by earlier successes, he accepted bribes, according to his accusers. He was charged further with using the property of private citizens to pay the wages of his workers and fertilize his gardens and of threatening violence to any who dared resist his emissaries.

Another accuser testified that "Kushshiharbe removed me from my threshing floor," adding:

"Two shekels of gold, one ox, and two male sheep I gave to Kushshiharbe and he allowed me to return."

Accused by one of his former staff members of two trysts with a woman, the mayor became quite agitated, the translation indicates.

"No! Emphatically no!" he replied to his accusers. "Not a word of it is true!" Dr. Speiser found that kidnapping was a favorite and profitable sport among Kushshiharbe's henchmen.

"I paid him two sheep and one mina of lead and he released my wife," a witness deposed.

Prison Breaker of 1913

• Must Go Back to Cell

Fort Sill, Okla.—Carlton B. Chilton of Cleveland, who escaped from the Granite, Okla., reformatory twenty-three years ago, must return to Oklahoma to finish a two-year sentence for bank theft, Governor Marland stated.

The decision was announced after a two and one-half-hour hearing at which the Governor received a report on Chilton's case from Colonel Charles Daley, superintendent of the state crime bureau. The superintendent urged that Chilton, now a respected citizen, be permitted to remain in Ohio.

Governor Marland said in a statement, however, that he had "come to the conclusion that it would be destructive to prison discipline if the man is not extradited." Chilton was serving a two-year sentence for stealing $400 from a Calvin, Okla., bank, when he escaped.

Eggs Stolen Years Ago

Are Paid for by Thief

Kansas City, Mo.—A man walked into Louis C. Entekin's restaurant. "You used to operate a cafe at Ninth and Locust?" He queried sharply.

"Yes, in 1914," Mr. Entekin replied.

"The man I'm looking for," the stranger said, peeling $13 from a roll of bills and handing it across the counter.

"I used to be a thief," he explained. "I stole three cases of eggs from you; stole lots of other stuff from other people, too."

"But I've changed. I've paid back everybody I stole from, you're the last."

"Good-by."

Mr. Gandy Good Shopper, but Forgot Own Present

It was simply out of the question for Mrs. Gandy to go to Sayville that morning. The day before Christmas and a thousand things to do; but Mr. Gandy was going. Of course he could do many errands, yet hardly the one she wished most to have done—a gift for himself. Sayville was the nearest shopping place to the tiny village where the Gandy's lived, a good fifteen miles over the mountain by a rickety bus which ran once a day.

Mrs. Gandy was struck with an idea. She hurried to a neighbor's house and begged her to come home with her. "Just as Mr. Gandy if he will buy for you pair of gloves, for your husband. Give a large size. He'll never guess."

The neighbor, obligingly consented. Mrs. Gandy felt well pleased with her bit of a scheme to get her husband to buy his own gift (unknowingly) for himself, but she was a trifle dismayed when, at five o'clock, Mr. Gandy came home, tired hungry and tumbled an armful of packages on the kitchen table.

"You got the sage for the dressing? The celery? The red toy truck for Tommie? The blue mittens for Sarah? The nuts and raisins, and the white wool for grandma?"

Mr. Gandy nodded and inquired how soon supper would be ready.

"And," asked his wife casually, "the gloves for Andrew, his wife wanted?"

Mr. Gandy smiled. "I clean forgot about them until the bus was ready to start! So I just hopped into a place and grabbed enough for old Andrew. I thought, but they aren't much." He grinned a little shamefacedly like a boy.

Mrs. Gandy plumped down in a chair. "Bill Gandy, that serves you just right. Those gloves are a Christmas present from me to you. You are served with your own sauce!" And she laughed so hard that Bill Gandy had to join her at his own expense—Martha B. Thomas.

SAFE — SOUND — SECURE

A WREATH ON THE DOOR

By Mazel R. Langdale

Would you mind if we didn't celebrate Christmas this year, Bob?"

Bob looked up quickly from his bacon and eggs "What's the idea, darling?"

Ellen's lip trembled, "I just can't bear to think of Christmas without father. And it isn't as if the baby were old enough to know the difference."

Her husband seemed about to say something, then evidently thought better of it. "Where is your mother going to be?" he asked, presently.

"In Boston, with Leila and the children. Of course, with youngsters that age, one has to keep Christmas."

"Whatever you say goes with me, Sweetness; you know that," said Bob.

Of course it was hard time for Ellen, just now, remembering other Christmases. Why, last year, how she had been flying around, joyously if hecticly busy with last minute shopping and packing to go home for the holidays. She and Bob and two-month-old little Jim, named for his grandfather. Would they ever forget that last happy celebration in the old home?

Ellen's father had loved Christmas, and what Bob had twice started to say had been something to the effect that he would not approve of anyone's not celebrating it.

During the days which followed, Ellen carefully avoided any errands which would take her downtown into the thick of the bundle-laden throngs. She bought little Jim half a dozen toys on her way to market.

Ellen went to bed early, leaving Bob reading. He had been patience itself.

It was on the morning after Christmas that a strange thing happened.

Ellen had left little Jim with Nora, who came in to help mornings and had gone down to the post office for the letter from mother which would tell how Christmas passed for her.

She was back at her own steps, with the letter saved to read in the quiet and warmth within, when the pretty young woman from next door ran out with a sweater thrown across her shoulders.

"Do excuse me," she said breathlessly, "But we're next door neighbors and, if I may ask, isn't your name Cunningham?"

"Why, yes," said Ellen. "It is."

"I thought so," said the other, with a puzzled look. "You see, yesterday I was passing with a piece of plum pudding for a shut-in old lady below, when a middle-aged man stopped me and asked me if I could tell him where the Cunninghams live."

"And I told him," the other was saying, "that I thought you lived right here."

"Yes, urged Ellen, with the strangest feeling of suspense. "Yes."

"He looked up at the house, and shook his head. 'Oh, no,' he said, very positively, yet gently, too. 'That couldn't possibly be it. There would be a wreath on the door.' And he went on."

After a moment Ellen found herself in her own room with her mother's letter open in her hand. She read it through, very carefully. Then read it again.

"Today has been a happy day with me, after all. Your father has seemed with me, even more than usual. Everything I did brought him back to me. Helping fill the children's stockings reminded me of your first Christmas. You were such a tiny thing, but he insisted you were not too young to celebrate and we filled your little sock together. I even sang the old carols softly to myself as they came over the radio and it made him seem very near."

"Leila and Will are going out to mail this for me."

"Love to all. MOTHER"

"Everything I did, brought him back to me."

Ellen sat for a long, long time thinking.

Carver's Language

Few people are aware that such a pleasant Yuletide task as carving has a language of its own, which has nothing to do with exasperation. Forgetting for a moment the ubiquitous turkey, which apparently is only "carved," an expert cites the following terms as appropriate to the occasion: Allay a pheasant, Chine a salmon, Mince a plover, Barb a lobster, Lift a swan, Spall a hen, Unbrace a duck Disfigure a peacock, Dismember a heron, Thigh a woodcock, and Tame a crab. In the Middle Ages, when most of these picturesque terms were evolved, herons, being as common as starlings today, were a favorite Christmas dish amongst the poor; while the rich granted the peacock the place of honor at their banquets.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

TOYS CHILDREN LIKE

A comprehensive survey leads to conclusion that building blocks are the favorite toy of children up to the age of seven. Drawing and painting materials rank high. With little girls, dolls and housekeeping equipment are favorites. Sand and clay for modeling retain the interest of most children. Mechanical toys, on the other hand, are soon discarded. Adults usually enjoy the mechanical toys more than the children for whom they are purchased.

WE SALUTE the new leader of practical farm power. Let's forget our old, extravagant method of doing business, and let the mule and horse pull us out on the open road to better times.

Here's the store for the necessary horse equipment, from harness down to collar pad or a curry comb. We know you men want the most dependable, long-lasting merchandise. That is just what we have.

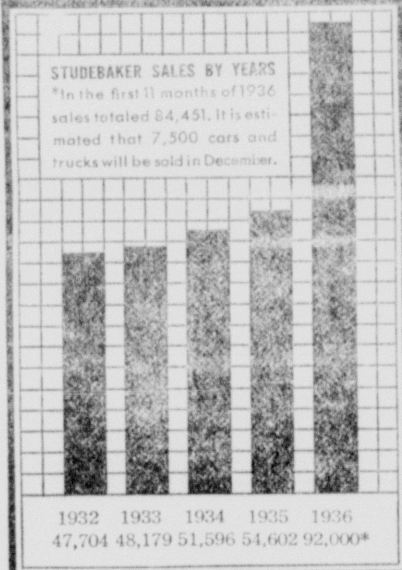

For heavy work, be sure to use new collars. We have them in different types and prices, but all are subject to change in price without notice so do not delay. Get the goods before they advance.

STUDEBAKER DOWN PAY

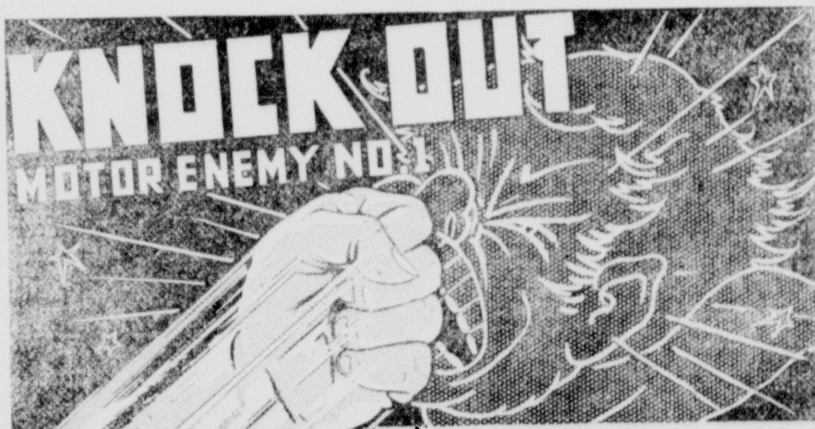

WHAT is behind Studebaker's Sensational Climb? Studebaker knew that only one thing could focus the attention and patronage of motorists. That one thing was—and is—better value—more for the money.

Comfort, safety and performance have been characteristic of Studebaker cars. But in this year's models the public has found these two outstanding bonus features: 1. Smart, modern, styling—charming interiors designed by Helen Dryden. 2. Amazing gasoline economy. And all this has been offered at prices so low that smart money has sensed the bargain.

CLAMMY CLOTHES

Experience teaches us that one sure way to "catch cold" is to venture out of doors wearing damp clothing. You may have an equally unhealthful condition right in your own home if you are troubled with "sweating walls."

All air contains some moisture. If the air contained no water vapor it would be exceedingly unhealthful. On the other hand, there is an erroneous impression that the higher the moisture content, the more healthful the atmosphere. It is especially unhealthful to permit the humidity or moisture content to reach the point of dampness. No doubt you have noticed the damp, clammy condition that exists in the room atmosphere when "sweat" collects on doors, walls and windows when heated rooms are tightly closed during the winter season. Under this unhealthful condition the clothing of those remaining in the room becomes partly saturated with water vapor. As the persons go from a heated room into a cold one, the water vapor condenses into moisture. The chilling effect is the same as going out into cold weather with damp, clammy clothing. The possibility of serious results to health is obvious.

"Sweating" walls are most commonly experienced in homes that use open flame types of individual room heaters exclusively but fail to provide adequate ventilation. The unvented open flame heater is practical and can be used with great satisfaction if applied properly. Excess moisture in the air of the home can be reduced to a minimum. Simply provide adequate ventilation in the room through a slightly opened window. Keep connecting doors open so that a natural circulation of pure, warmed air prevails from one room to another.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house during the short winter season and provide adequate ventilation.

"Come, Let Us Adore Him," Happy Christmas Thought

There is a magical pause, a mysterious something in the air, an awakening of man's best and sweetest instincts as the Yuletide carols ring out the hallowed words: "Peace on earth, good will toward men." A pause when even the most sullen, forbidding, hardhearted person feels an urge of the soul within him, to join in the merry festival of Christmas.

Then, too, there is magic in red holly berries, gray green branches of bewitching mistletoe, and the perfume of woody evergreens, melting wax and the burning log. How mysteriously they recall sweet thoughts of long ago to the elders! How they fill the hearts of playful children with joyous delight!

Christmas is the significance of childhood, for almost two thousand years ago the Christ Child brought the redeeming message of love to the world. Love that keeps the little flame of hope burning; love that gives patience and courage to endure the problems of life; love that prompts the giving and receiving of gifts.

When Wise Men of the East

men of profound learning, saw a brilliant star and followed it, they found this little messenger of love in his rude and humble resting place, and they laid their most precious gifts before him.

These gifts were highly symbolic. Gold to a King, the King of Love and Humanity. Frankincense to a Divinity, the God of human needs. Myrrh for a man, and for the sorrow that redeems. Thus they recognized in a little Child, the King, the Divine and the Man.

As we commemorate Christ's birth each Yuletide, there is a radiant warmth and spirit of love in the giving and receiving of gifts; we pay homage and reverence to our King, our God and our Redeemer.—Agnes Myers.

"PIGSKIN PARADE"

With Jack Haley as a daffy football coach and Patsy Kelly as his wise-cracking wife, these two popular screen funmakers have the outstanding comedy roles of their careers in "Pigskin Parade," Twentieth Century-Fox musical football laugh hit coming to the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday, December 13 and 14.

Stuart Erwin, Johnny Downs, Arline Judge, Betty Grable, the Yacht Club Boys, Dixie Dunbar, Anthony Martin and Judy Garland are also featured in the film, which was authored for the screen by Harry Tugend, Jack Yellen and William Conselman, based on a story by Arthur Sheekman, Nat Perrin and Mark Kelly.

"Ginger" Jane Withers as Dixie's honey chile in her latest and greatest Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Can This Be Dixie?" In which the fun really shines all the time, is coming to the Cameron Theatre Saturday, December 12.

The film was directed by George Marshall who also collaborated with Lamar Trotti in writing the original story. A fine supporting cast includes Slim Summerville, Helen Wood and Thomas Beck.

"SMARTEST GIRL IN TOWN"

Revolving about the romance of a beautiful photographic model and a masquerading wealthy playboy, "Smartest Girl In Town" brings Ann Sothern and Gene Raymond together again next Thursday, December 10,

The two favorites, who scored so notably in their recent "Walkin' on Air," are endowed with an even faster and funnier story in "Smartest Girl In Town." They share the stellar niche, supported by a brilliant cast including Helen Broderick, Eric Blore, Erik Rhodes, Harry Jans and Frand Jenks.

"THE ACCUSING FINGER"

Considerable food for thought to those who hold opinions on capital punishment as an institution as well as those who feel that circumstantial evidence should be entirely ruled out in capital cases is contained in "The Accusing Finger," a new drama featuring Marsha Hunt, Robert Cummings, Paul Kelly, Kent Taylor, Harry Carey and Bernadene Hayes, coming to the Cameron Theatre Tuesday, December 15.

"ISLE OF FURY"

For stark drama, wild adventure and unique romance set in a weirdly glamorous background, few pictures can compete with the Warner Bros. production, "Isle of Fury," which comes to the Cameron Theatre Friday December 11.

The picture, based on the Somerset Maugham novel "Three in Eden," is packed with thrills from start to finish, including the rescue of men washed into the sea from a ship smashed on a jagged coral reef in a terrible storm—battles with knife and gun between outlawed white men, half castes and natives—and greatest of all, a titanic struggle to the death of two men caught in the snakelike tentacles of an octopus at the bottom of the ocean.

"WITHOUT ORDERS"

Winging through its story with the speed of one of the big transport planes aboard which its most thrilling moments occur, R K O Radio's

"Without Orders" offers to picture patrons an exciting romantic drama of modern aviation.

Robert Armstrong and Vinton Harworth have the principal masculine roles as rival pilots. Sally Eilers, as the stewardess with whom both men fall in love, has the feminine lead.

MARCH OF TIME

With a comprehensive yet intimate presentation of the routine duties and extraordinary responsibilities that daily face the Chief Executive of the United States, the March of Time, coming Sunday and Monday Dec. 13 and 14 at the Cameron Theatre, has scored a decidedly dramatic hit in its episode entitled, "The Presidency."

In filming the presidential review, the March of Time became the first motion picture company ever to be granted full photographic privileges in the White House. Guided by Chief Usher Raymond T. Muir, a camera crew spent an entire week within the executive mansion, home of every U. S. president since John Adams in 1800.

The result is an absorbing document of unquestioned value. Of the hundreds of thousands of Washington visitors, few have reached the White House doors, and none but intimate friends of the Chief Executive have had the privilege of seeing what the camera reveals—the charming second-floor living quarters of the President and his family.

Here, for the first time, are shown the stately upstairs living rooms, where the President may relax in privacy. In his study beyond, the camera has recorded the intimate surroundings of the President's own books and private papers, his personal trophies, family portraits and ship models that make the room more livable.

Having had ample opportunity to photograph the Chief Executive at work in his office, the activities of his secretariat and the routine duties of his staff of household servants, the March of Time presents a full camera study of a president's life within the White House walls. Expertly supplemented with vivid pictures of critical events of the past four years, the film becomes a fast-moving, dramatic commentary on the responsibilities that go with holding the greatest elective office in the world.

SHERIFF'S SALE

STATE OF TEXAS

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory." •

BLACK-DRAUGHT

Our Town

is born in Bethlehem.

The custom is said to have started in ancient religious plays, when carol singers were sent out to entertain the people between the acts.

So the melody of the carol singers is like some voice echoing down the ages. Some of these old tunes were sung through the halls of Europe, before America was discovered, or before printed words were placed on any book page. When such a strain lives on while ages pass, some vital truth must lie behind it.

Five states have banished Santa Claus from liquor publicity. The old fellow's red nose can be legally attributed either to exposure or biliousness.

The next war will end on the ground as usual, says Gen. Frank Parker. It may begin aloft, but dust to dust is the way of all flesh.

The fellows who named the early motor cars were great optimists. Back in the old home town, people six blocks away used to say, "That sounds like Doc Smith in his Silent Northern."
